CONDUCTOR HURT.

Lost a Foot, but Quick Wit Saved His Life.

W. A. Middleton, conductor on the Southern Pacific, was brought in from the west yesterday morning, having been injured in an accident at Brow-awe, Nev. Mr. Middleton was conductawe, Nev. Mr. Middleton was conduct-or on the passenger train and it seems that some timber alongside the track slipped down and caught the platform on which he was standing as his train was passing. He was thrown from the car, but caught the rail and saved himself from falling under the wheels. However, the wheel passed over his left foot and a portion of the same had to be amputated at the hospital. Two fingers of the left hand were also severed.
